

Sony Xperia C3: The Selfie Cam Phone

Description

Sony has launched Xperia C3 and claims internet and social media sites are flooded in the age, where the people are now looking into more options for better and crisper selfies.

This mid-range Sony Xperia C3 comes with a 5MP front camera and as a competition to Huawei Ascend P7's 8MP shooter. Sony's LED flash to make selfies look good even in low light is the winner. The front cam also comes with wide angle lens and Superior Auto Mode.

Other specs of the phone include 8MP primary camera, 5.5 inch HD 720p display, 1 GB RAM and 4G LTE connectivity, 1.2 GHz quad-core Snapdragon and Android 4.4 (kitkat). The skinny handset measures 7.6mm. This Sony phone will surely appeal the selfie-loving people and maybe they'll have to wait a little longer before this selfie-friendly device hits the market.
