

Happy tales of Goubert market, Puducherry

Description

Being happy is not just for today, we can be happy every day. Why can't every day be a Happy Day?

On the 20th of March, in the streets of Goubert Market, the people were unaware of The International Day of Happiness. Yet, the radiant smiles reflected their happiness through their daily chores of earning a modest livelihood. Here are a few happy tales from the market:

A tea boy from Goubert Market, smiling through the chaos.

The shops were very crowded and his hands had to get the work done at the speed of light to serve all the vendors in the crowd. Despite all the chaos and noise around him, he didn't forget to spread positivity with his smile.

Laughter is contagious! A working woman at Goubert Market shares a joyful moment reminding us that happiness is just a smile away.

This little girl was having fun helping her parents at their flower shop.

A vendor at Goubert Market greets a customer with a heartfelt smile, demonstrating the power of kindness and connection.

Laughing without borders! Celebrating the universal language of happiness

As we celebrate â??The International Day of Happinessâ??. I found myself immersed in the vibrant streets of Goubert Market in Puducherry, surrounded by people who embody the true spirit of joy. Despite the challenges of their daily lives, these individuals radiate happiness and contentment, inspiring us to reevaluate our own priorities. As I witnessed the tea boyâ??s bright smile, the working womanâ??s infectious laughter, and the young girlâ??s carefree delight, I realized that happiness is not just a feeling, but a choice. Itâ??s a choice to appreciate the simple things, to connect with others, and to find joy in the everyday moments. As we strive for happiness in our own lives, letâ??s draw inspiration from these remarkable individuals and celebrate the unbridled joy that makes life worth living.

As I wandered through the market, engaging with the locals, one elderly man posed a profound question that struck a chord within me. â??Why do we reserve happiness for just one day?â?? he asked. â??Being happy is not just for today, we can be happy every day. Why canâ??t every day be a Happy Day?â?? His words resonated deeply, and I couldnâ??t help but agree. He reminded me that happiness is a mindset, a choice we can make every moment of our lives. By embracing this perspective, we can transform every day into a celebration of joy, gratitude, and happiness.

Photos by â?? Kiran Kumar Boya

Written by â?? Gitanjali Onteddu

Edited by â?? Rupam Shukla

Category

1. Smile Please

Tags

1. Pondicherry
2. Pondicherry University
3. World Happiness Day

Date Created

March 23, 2025

Author

admin

default watermark